

The Springfield Historical Society

presents

"Saving the Mountains: NH and the Creation of the National Forests"

Marcia Schmidt Blaine, presenter

A NH Humanities Council Program

On Thursday evening, April 10, 2014, the Springfield Historical Society through a grant from the NH Humanities Council, will feature an outstanding speaker, Marcia Schmidt Blaine. The meeting will begin at 7:00 pm and will be at the Springfield Town Meetinghouse, 23 Four Corners Rd, Springfield, NH.

Marcia is a historian of New Hampshire and New England history and is Chair of the Department of History and Philosophy at Plymouth State University. Her academic work focuses on the development of American identity, 18th century NH women, and Anglo captives of the Abenaki. she also explores various aspects of White Mountain history through her work with the museum of the White Mountains in Plymouth.

This promises to be an outstanding program and it is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served as people arrive and get seated. Our Town Meetinghouse is handicapped accessible and we cordially invite you to join us. Call Donna Denniston at (603) 496-5462 for further information.